

Foreword

Virginia R. Litle, MD
Consulting Editor

For the past 10 years, M. Blair Marshall, MD, Consulting Editor for Thoracic Surgery Clinics, brought us an array of topics from surgical to professional. We are thankful to Dr Marshall for keeping us current on not only the management of benign and malignant thoracic diseases but also the technical advances for which she is an expert. I am excited to introduce myself as her successor as Consulting Editor. I look forward to working with general thoracic colleagues as well as involving specialists from other scientific and medical fields to continue the tradition of updating us all on what is topical and of interest to our thoracic audience from trainees to senior surgeons. I welcome suggestions from you all about what advances in the field you would like to learn. Our mutual goals should be to move our field forward for the sake of our patients!

Sincerely,

Virginia R. Litle, MD
