Statement of Peer Review: All supplement manuscripts submitted to The Journal of Pediatrics for publication are reviewed by: (1) a Guest Editor(s); (2) one or more outside peer reviewers who are independent of the supplement project; and (3) the Editor of The Journal. This process ensures that the supplement lacks bias toward a particular drug or product and has an educational focus that is of interest to our readership.

Author Disclosure Policy: All authors contributing to supplements in The Journal of Pediatrics are required to fully disclose any primary financial relationship with a company that has a direct fiscal or financial interest in the subject matter or products discussed in the submitted manuscripts, or with a company that produces a competing product. These relationships (eg, ownership of stock, significant honoraria, consulting fees) and any direct support of research by a commercial company are fully disclosed within each article for every author.
