Foreword

This issue of Current Problems in Cardiology includes 3 manuscripts that tackle several aspects of coronary heart disease.

One of the manuscript is an extensive review of depression and coronary heart disease, another reports the paradoxical effect of insurance on transfer times and outcomes in patients with ST elevation myocardial infarction and the last manuscript discusses factors that affect early mortality and 1-year outcomes in young women with ST-segment-elevation myocardial infarction.

I hope the readership finds the manuscripts and the topic interesting and I want to thank the authors for reviewing these relevant topics on coronary heart disease.
